

HOPSCOTCH BOUTIQUE MONTHLY NEWSLETTER

Welcome to our very first newsletter!

New Year, New Goals!

By Jennifer Dumas Turek

After a few months on social medial, we were blessed with opportunities to provide so many beautiful fur babies to their new homes. Our online Etsy store and FB store flourished, and we are excited to expand to a new website in a few months. At first, our Face Book name was "Hopscotch Bunny Boutique" but realizing we shorted ourselves by that name, we recently updated to "Hopscotch Boutique" Along with Rabbit and Guinea Pig toys and treats we also breed chickens, ducks, doves, and Bunnies!

RHDV2 Rabbit Hemorrhagic Disease

USDA Fact Sheet visit: www.usda.gov fs-rhdv2.pdf (usda.gov)

After an online post from a local Connecticut Vet about a new vaccine available for the RHDV2 virus, we have received lots of questions. Please visit the link above, but in short, this virus is not new to us. Rare, but not new. This virus affects both domestic and wild rabbits and is highly contagious. The virus spreads so easily and the pdf link listed above will outline precautions you can take not to spread the virus to your fur babies. Vaccines are not widely available yet but as a bun owner it is something to consider when it is. There is currently a waiting list for the vaccine at Pieper Veterinary in Middletown, CT. Last known they were fully booked and started a wait list.
